ADVISORY PARTNERSHIP BRIEFING · MONDAY 26 OCTOBER 2026

You know the rooms. We build the engine.

What Extol has been doing, what a client gets in a deal, and where you come in.

EXTOL AFFILIATES · GROWTH SYSTEMS FOR B2B COMPANIES · PREPARED FOR DAVID SAMUEL

IF WE ONLY HAD FIVE MINUTES

The short version

The whole meeting on one page.

What we do

We build growth systems for B2B experts and firms: the right buyers, the right message, every week, without eating the founder's time.

What a deal includes

Positioning, trigger-based outreach, a content engine, website and articles, events and live reporting. One monthly fee from £2,500, every tool included.

Where you come in

Advise on the offer and pricing. Guide us on where to play. Open doors to the first right-fit clients, and share in what they bring.

THREE PARTS, ONE MEETING

WHO WE ARE

Growth systems for B2B companies.

Small team, built-in leverage.

WHAT WE BELIEVE

Businesses don't buy AI.
They buy revenue, time and lower risk.

- AI is the mechanism. The outcome is the product.
- Agents draft, humans decide. Nothing leaves a client's account without a yes.
- Quality over quantity: few buyers, each one researched.

Devasya Dwivedi (Dave)

Strategy, discovery calls and client lead. Runs the outreach and agent systems.

Anshul Mikita Prajapati

Research, LinkedIn audits, dashboards and delivery. Presents the audit to clients.

ACT I

What we've been doing

Why we do this work, who we've done it for, and what we built along the way.

WHY WE DO THIS

Expertise isn’t the problem. Distribution is.

From our October LinkedIn audit of a former Big Four partner, now running a UK consultancy.

FOLLOWERS

1,597

after a 20-year career

MEDIAN REACTIONS

9

on their own posts

OF COMMENTS

76%

were some form of “congrats”

COMPANY PAGE

14 followers on the firm’s page

Time

Experts can’t spend three hours a day on LinkedIn. So they don’t, and buyers never hear of them.

No system

Work comes from referrals and old colleagues. Good, but it caps growth and can’t be planned.

Generic AI noise

Buyers are drowning in AI-written outreach. Trust now goes to specific, human, sourced.

THE WORK

Three accounts. Three markets. One method.

3D Images AI

LinkedIn and email outbound to Amazon brand owners. 2,100+ researched prospects, each connection note written for their product category.

3D PRODUCT MODELS FOR AMAZON LISTINGS

Bloggerly

LinkedIn campaign for the article service. Inbound SEO consultants now asking for examples and calls.

SEARCH-OPTIMISED ARTICLES FOR B2B SITES

UK finance-transformation consultancy

LinkedIn audit and discovery on 15 Oct. A 52-page outbound and brand strategy delivered the next day. Target: 100+ qualified leads a month by month 6.

FORMER BIG FOUR PARTNER · SAP AND AI VALUE

Our own engine first: once the Extol company page reached about 50 followers, inbound started. People had seen our 3D Images AI and Bloggerly work and asked for the same.

THE ASSET

What we built along the way

Every engagement leaves a reusable system behind.

Cold email system

2 agents, 16 skills and an automatic checker. Every draft is scored 0–100 by an independent critic and ships only at 85+.

LinkedIn engine

An agent reads buyers' posts and drafts comments. Linked Helper sends requests at a human pace from a UK server.

Lead scoring

A decisions model triages leads and replies for about 1.8 cents per thousand decisions.

Content and creative

Articles, visuals, video ads and webinar clips, all from one raw note.

Live dashboards

Followers, reactions, replies and calls tracked from day one. Every lead traces to its source.

Trigger research

New-in-role leaders, hiring, M&A, tenders and regulation turned into a reason to reach out this month.

LEARNED THE HARD WAY

Mistakes we made, so clients don't pay for them

We moved too fast

Early on we sent too many connection requests in a few days, and an account was restricted for a day.

Now: Every account now starts at 5 requests a day and climbs to 20 by week six, from a UK address.

Volume isn't pipeline

A job title alone doesn't make someone a buyer. Messaging everyone burns the account and the brand.

Now: One buying trigger earns a message. Two make someone a priority.

AI slop kills trust

Senior buyers spot generic AI copy in a line. One bad comment costs more than ten good ones earn.

Now: Every post and message waits for a human yes. Every number has a source.

ACT II

What a client gets in a deal

Each part: what it is, why we do it, what it produces, and how we run it.

THE ENGINE

One note a week becomes everything else

The client brings the expertise. We bring the leverage.

Client's raw note

A voice note or a few lines. About 30 minutes, once a week.

→

Extol drafts. Client approves.

In their voice, sources checked, proofread twice. Approved on their phone.

→

- LinkedIn posts and company page
- Comments on buyers' posts
- Monthly newsletter
- Search articles on their site
- Webinar clips and visuals
- Personal welcome video for leads

Client time: about 2½ hours a week.

PART ONE · WEEKS 1 TO 4

Build the foundation

Nothing launches into an empty room.

COMPONENT	WHAT IT IS	WHY WE DO IT	WHAT IT PRODUCES
Audit and positioning	Profile, company page and content audit. One positioning line used everywhere.	Buyers check you before they reply. Four names and three locations kill trust.	A profile and page a CFO believes, in week one
Targeting and triggers	A named buyer list built from signals: new in role, hiring, M&A, tenders, regulation.	A message with a reason gets a reply. A job title alone doesn't.	200+ named buyers, ranked by readiness
Website and articles	Site rebuilt around one first offer. Two search articles a month.	Every channel needs one place to land. Search compounds for years.	Tracked bookings; every lead traced to source
Reporting	Live dashboard plus a monthly review with the client.	Cut what isn't working, double what is.	Decisions on data, and visible progress

PART TWO · EVERY WEEK FROM WEEK 2

Run the engine

This is the recurring part of the fee.

COMPONENT	WHAT IT IS	WHY WE DO IT	WHAT IT PRODUCES
LinkedIn outreach	5 rising to 20 connection requests a day, half warm, half cold, with a follow-up.	Gets the expert into the buyer's network before the RFP or budget lands.	About 8 booked calls a month at full pace
Engagement	3–5 drafted comments a day on buyers' posts, approved by the client.	Visibility with the exact buyers, without a cold pitch.	Name recognition where it counts
Content engine	One raw note becomes posts, newsletter, articles and clips.	Consistency without taking the founder's week.	Weekly proof and point-of-view posts
Events and community	Monthly webinar, small invite-only dinners, Substack or Skool where it fits.	Be in rooms where buyers already are, and own a small one.	Warm calls within 48 hours of every event

HOW WE RUN IT

Agents draft. People decide.

The same five-step loop for every channel and every client.

01

Watch

Agents read buyers' posts, job moves and news for triggers

02

Draft

Posts, comments and notes in the client's voice

03

Approve

The client says yes, edits or bins it, on their phone

04

Publish

At a human pace, from a safe UK address

05

Measure

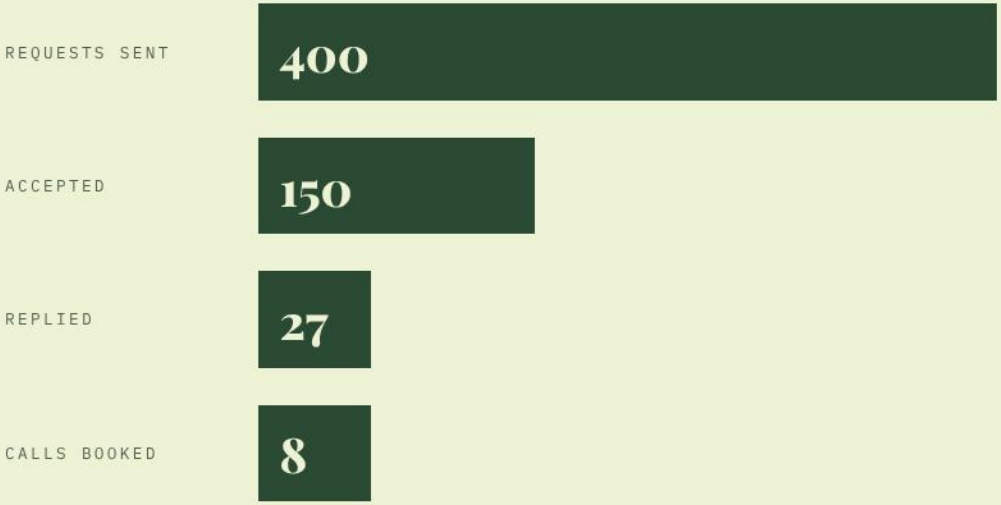

Replies, calls and followers, reviewed monthly

- Clients are named only with written permission
- Two proofreads before the client sees a draft
- Every number has a linked source
- Mistakes come down the same day, and we log why

THE MATHS

What 20 requests a day turn into

Monthly outreach funnel at full pace, once the account is warmed up. Our planning model, not yet track record.

37% accept

Warm contacts accept far more than cold

18% of acceptors reply

Because every note names their trigger

30% of replies book

No pitch in the first message, just a question

PLANNING MODEL · TO BE PROVEN

THE OUTCOME

A pipeline that compounds

Forecast for our consultancy client: qualified leads a month, mid-points.

QUALIFIED LEADS A MONTH

100

WORTH PURSUING · REAL BUYER CALLS

10

PAYING CLIENTS

2–3

BIG-TICKET SALES TAKE 6–12 MONTHS. FIRST WIN USUALLY LANDS IN MONTHS 6–12.

THE COMMERCIALS

One monthly fee. Every tool included.

STANDARD · MONTH 4+

£2,500

a month

FOUNDING · MONTH 1

£1,500

Set-up, voice interview, website build

FOUNDING · MONTHS 2–3

£1,200

Delivery and weekly call

Our accountability. At day 60 we review the numbers together. If we're behind, we agree a written fix plan, or the client gives 30 days' notice and leaves before the standard fee starts.

IF YEAR ONE BRINGS…

One small advisory piece	£50,000	0.9×
One mid-size engagement	£150,000	2.8×
Two engagements	£500,000+	9.5×

YEAR-ONE FEE £26,400 · RETURN ON PROFIT AT A 50% MARGIN · ILLUSTRATIVE

FOUNDING-CLIENT TERMS · PRICES EXCLUDE VAT

GUARDRAILS

What we take care of

Their LinkedIn account

Human pace, slow warm-up, a UK address. Always well under daily limits.

Their clients and NDA

Named only with written permission. NDA and a data processing agreement before we start.

Mistakes

Anything wrong comes down the same day, gets fixed, and the cause is logged.

Their brand

One name, one location, one story, everywhere, from week one.

Their data

Confidential detail is stripped before drafting. Accounts and content are handed back if we stop.

Their audiences

Buyer and community content never share a post. A CFO should never feel sold a course.

ACT III

Where you come in

Advise, guide and open doors, and how we make it worth your while.

WORKING ALONGSIDE US, NOT FOR US

Three ways you can move the needle

Advise

Make the offer and the pitch sharper.

- Pressure-test the offer and pricing
- Sharpen how we explain outcomes to senior buyers
- Sit in on key pitches and debrief us

Guide

Point us at the right market.

- Help us pick the one market to own first
- Tell us which proof your network would trust
- A monthly strategy hour with the founders

Open doors

Bring us to the right people.

- Warm intros to founders and firms who fit
- Join first calls where your name helps
- Point us to the rooms and events that matter

AN HONEST READ

Where we most need an outside view

Our own gaps, and the first questions we'd bring to you.

Proof

No published case study with hard numbers yet. Our results are early and mostly forecasts.

Which proof would your network trust first?

Focus

Three very different markets so far: Amazon brands, SEO services, finance consulting.

Which one should we own, and which should we drop?

Pricing

£2,500 a month has been offered to one founding client. It isn't tested at scale.

Is it priced for the value, or leaving money on the table?

Capacity

Two founders run sales and delivery. Systems carry a lot, but not everything.

How many clients before we hire, and who first?

A PROPOSAL TO SHAPE TOGETHER

How we could work together

Nothing here is fixed. Terms to agree on Monday.

A · Referral partner

A share of the fees from every client you introduce, for their first year.

Simple, no fixed cost, pays only on results.

B · Advisor

A set number of hours a month, plus a smaller success fee on introduced clients.

Regular rhythm; good if advice is the main value.

C · Strategic advisor

A small equity stake, vesting over time, once the fit is proven.

Long-term alignment with where Extol is going.

Our suggestion: start as a referral partner for 90 days, then review together and move to B or C if it's working for both sides.

NEXT

The first 90 days together

Small, concrete steps, so we both know quickly whether this works.

WEEK 1

Agree the role

Role, terms and a monthly hour in the diary. NDA both ways.

DAY 30

Pick the market

One market to lead with. A shortlist of 10 people you could introduce.

DAY 60

First intros

First warm intros and calls, with you in the room where it helps.

DAY 90

Review

First referred client signed or in proposal. Decide the long-term model.

Questions for you today: which market do you know best? Who comes to mind first? What would make this a clear yes for you?

THANK YOU

You know the rooms. We build the engine.

Together: the right clients, a system that delivers for them, and proof that compounds.

DEVASYA DWIVEDI · ANSHUL MIKITA PRAJAPATI · ADMIN@EXTOLAFFILIATES.COM